FINANCIAL PHILOSOPHY

by Henry Morris IV

Look through any family photo album and you will find a study of both time and history. Turn to the early years, when time is evenly measured by births and first steps and first days of school. The pace quickens as you turn the page to see birthday celebrations, shiny new bicycles, and pizza parties after baseball games. Turn the page again to find the pace has accelerated even further, with driving lessons and school proms and graduations now dominating the scene. But by the time parents are placing pictures of their children's weddings in their album, or proudly framing school photographs of their grandchildren, they have learned to savor their family's history and appreciate the time that has passed.

Invisibly threaded throughout all the memories - wrapped up in every family history - is money. Rich or poor, Christian or not, money, in part, defines every family. How a family acquires it, wrestles with it, protects it, and gives it, money plays a role in who that family is. And just as great memories do not happen by accident, a family's view of money does not simply materialize out of nothing.

Photo albums certainly do not create a family's values, but they do capture moments and preserve them as a remembrance for later reflection. But in order to store a memory, you must first make it. Parents play a tremendous role in determining the culture of a family, by deciding what is worth doing, worth believing, worth tolerating, and worth letting go. Parents teach this by example, but if they wish to deeply instill biblical values into their children and see them passed on to their children's children, they have to act intentionally. They need a plan.

The best plans start with careful consideration of several key questions. Such as, how will you establish the financial culture of your family? How will you think about money personally? And how will those thoughts - your financial philosophy - affect what you do with the things the Lord has given you? Your financial philosophy - the one you pass on to your children - will be the sum total of the answers to your questions about money. The key is to ask the right questions, with answers founded in Scripture:

- Who really owns the things you have? (Deuteronomy 8:18 and Psalms 24:1)
- How will you handle the assets entrusted by God to your care? (Matthew 25:14-30 and 1 Timothy 6:17-19)
- When is it enough? (Matthew 6:31-33 and Philippians 4:11-12)
- Where should it go in the end? (Galatians 6:8-10 and 1 Timothy 6:7-10)

Every family will answer these questions, whether they mean to or not, and their lives will be a living response to each one. Every one of us has a financial philosophy, but most people do not take time to examine their philosophies. And sadly, most do not look to Scripture to provide the foundation for the way they think about money. But as you consider the truths in God's Word about your money and its use, you can develop an approach that pleases Him.

WHAT DOES OUR CHRISTIAN RADIO STATION MEAN TO YOU?

Eleven years ago this coming June, we began broadcasting the Fundamental Broadcasting Network's programming into Oakland and surrounding communities on 88.7 fm.

God has blessed this endeavor in ways we never anticipated! Our coverage has been much greater than we had ever hoped for, reaching into and hearing back from a number of communities in WV, PA and of course throughout Garrett county. The response from our listeners was (and continues to be) overwhelmingly positive. In fact, our translator here at MLIBC is one of the top financial supporters of the entire network.

This ministry is meeting an important spiritual need, not just in our church family, but throughout the community that God has made our church responsible for.

The effectiveness and success of this outreach has not been without opposition. A year ago it appeared that we may be losing the station, or at least having it severely restricted. But God, in His power and mercy, has given us an even greater open door of opportunity - the purchase of a Full Service License.

We have been talking much about this the past month or so, and God's people have responded wonderfully. Having said that, we are still about $1,000.00 short of where we need to be. I am anticipating hearing from the FCC at any moment, and we will need the $5,000 to purchase this license.

This is more than just expanding our coverage, this license is vitally necessary to keep what we have presently on the air.

So I ask you, what does our Radio outreach mean to you personally, have you been blessed, challenged, encouraged or helped spiritually in anyway. I am sure you have along with literally hundreds or even thousands of others in our area. Please pray for and support this great ministry every way you possible can.
